EXPANDING NAVIGATOR TEAM TO FAST TRACK LEONORA EXPLORATION

Navigator Resources Limited (Navigator) is pleased to announce the appointment of Dr Allan Trench to the board of Navigator as a non-executive Director. Allan Trench has specialist skills in operations management and geology, with wide industry experience in the nickel, gold and oil and gas sectors.

Dr Trench has led nickel sulphide exploration teams for WMC Resources, is a former exploration manager for WMC at Mt Keith and Kambalda, and was General Manager - Exploration in the Gutnick Group, overseeing four listed companies. He subsequently joined McKinsey and Company where he consulted to a number of major minerals companies on strategy development and operations improvement. More recently he has worked with Barrick Gold - Newmont Australia as continuous improvement manager at Australia's largest gold mine.

Dr Trench has a track record of excellence across a range of technical and management disciplines and will be a valuable addition to the Navigator team.

Navigator intends to scale up its exploration efforts at its Leonora project on the back of a steady stream of encouraging drill results and an increasing resource inventory that has recently doubled to 444,000 ounces. An additional geologist will be appointed shortly. The aim is to now increase the gold resource to 1 million ounces and expand its mineable reserves.

Navigator has commenced a staged drilling program of 24,000 metres. The initial 3,400m of drilling at Cardinia has been completed and the results will be announced following the receipt of final assay results. The second stage of the drill programme is planned to commence on 21 November, targeting the Cardinia and Mertondale areas. Navigator plans to open up a second work area at Mertondale to follow up on strong near-surface mineralisation encountered by Navigator previously.

Deeper RC drilling of selected targets in the Mertondale, Cardinia and Raeside areas is planned to commence in January.
