Navigator Resources Limited (ASX: NAV) is pleased to announce the appointment of prominent geologist and mining identity Dr Tim Sugden as a non-executive Director.

He has been a Director of Nova Energy, a uranium exploration and development company, since its listing in 2005 and Managing Director since 2006.

Dr Sugden has worked in the mineral extraction industry for 20 years and has extensive experience in exploration, research and development, feasibility studies, mine management and corporate development. He studied geology in the UK and India before joining Western Mining Corporation in 1987. In 1994 he co-founded the MLA, the world's most widely used mineral liberation analysis technology. Commenting on Dr Sugden's appointment, Navigator chairman Dr Allan Trench, said: "Tim Sugden will add considerable strength to the Navigator Board as the Company moves towards its key objectives of developing a significant gold mining operation in Leonora, WA and unlocking value for shareholders in other areas, such as the Cummins Range rare earth metal project".

"Tim has an exceptional track record in the mining industry as an explorer, miner and innovator and is widely respected by his peers and the mining community in general. His skills will be an invaluable asset and catalyst for further growth", Dr Trench said.

As part of his remuneration package as non-executive director the Board has resolved to allot one(1) million options to Dr Sugden exercisable at $1.20 each and otherwise on terms and conditions as per the options currently on issue to the other non executives.
